

A glass jar of honey is the central focus, with a wooden honey dipper resting on its rim. The dipper is dripping with thick, golden honey. To the right of the jar, a whole red apple is partially visible. In the foreground, several slices of red and yellow apples are scattered. The entire scene is set against a background of a blue wooden surface with a visible grain.

Sept. 29–Oct. 1, 2019